A Greek Tragedy - Part II

Atlanta:

Washington, D.C. South

The home of federally-designated Holden Caulfields, who like J.D. Salinger's hero, attempt to act as "Catchers In The Rye". In other words, they run interference for all the Mammonites-In-Charge at the nation's capital.

One of the duties of these quasi-money lenders is to discourage municipal, county or state officials from attempting to obtain funds for much-needed projects.

This is how it's done.

The official packs his Samsonite overnight bag, kisses the wife and kiddies and heads for Atlanta. Bravely, he wades through a myriad of government officials until he reaches the office of Kiplinger Rudding (they all have names which sound as though they should be the other way around) assistant vice-director of the Department of Urbane Devolution.

The official explains that his city would like to build a new (a) sewer system; (b) airport runway; or (c) city hall.

Rudding listens intently to the needs of the official and moves his head affirmatively at the appropriate times. The official is encouraged. Rudding then suggests a meeting "later on" with the vice-director and the assistant director (the director is called on only for really important jobs such as dedications, dinners and cocktail parties for the Mammonites).

With a song in his heart and an Atlanta souvenir in his pocket, the official heads for home, secure in the knowledge that he has friends in high places.

In the meantime, Rudding gets on the stick and calls Congressman Koonoocker in D.C. The conversation goes a little like this:

Rudding: Listen, 'Dock, I need some legislation and I need it now.

'Dock: Spill it, boy.

Rudding: I want the bill to read that federal funds for sewer systems, airport runways and city halls will be given only to those towns which have 78 one-way streets, an office of consumer protection and have eight vowels and six consonants in its name.

'Dock: Got it, I'll get right on it.

Two months pass.

The official is getting a little nervous because Rudding has not answered his 11 phone calls, six letters and 18 memos. Another trip to Atlanta is in the offing.

With less enthusiasm, the official packs his shaving kit, shakes his wife's hand, screams at the kiddies and is on his way.

He gets to see Rudding, but is a little disappointed when Rudding asks, "What can I do for you?"

The official explains his plight and as he does, a look of genuine sadness comes over Rudding's face.

"It looks as though it will be impossible," Rudding says, "because Congress just passed a law that..."

And so it goes. With variations on the same theme. Holden knew it all along.

(Next week: In the last part of this tragoidia, the local officials decide to return the kindness of the federal government-in-kind, that is.)

Fire Extinguishers Should Be Inspected

Dr. Hugh B. Cottrell, State Health Officer, today asked families and fire departments in Mississippi to check home fire extinguishers "to determine if they contain a dangerous chemical which may be fatal when its fumes are inhaled."

The Food and Drug Administration warned that many home fire extinguishers made during the past 25 years and sold throughout the United States until 1970, contained carbon tetrachloride.

The FDA has published a regulation which prohibits the sale of carbon tetrachloride, or any mixture of it, for use in the home, including fire extinguishers. "Safer and more effective chemical extinguishers are available," said Dr. Cottrell, "and considering the risk involved with carbon tetrachloride, we strongly advise using other types of extinguishers."

According to the FDA, a 48-year-old Oregon woman died in July as a result of inhaling fumes from a broken extinguisher. The victim's husband also inhaled the fumes and became critically ill, but later recovered.

Joe D. Brown, director of the Sanitary Engineering Department, State Board of Health, advises families with suspicious extinguishers, "especially those unlabeled as to content," to call their local fire departments for instructions. "Any attempt to transport the old glass-bulb type extinguisher should be undertaken most carefully," he said, "and its destruction should be done by experts."

Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Richard Fayard said that the people may call the fire department at 467-4736 or 467-5151 and request an inspection.

CD Assistance Underway

A meeting to kick-off the Civil Defense On-Site Assistance Program in Hancock County was held Monday night at the American Legion Home in Bay St. Louis. Kenneth N. Causey, State Civil Defense director, introduced the five man On-Site Assistance team to a crowd of approximately 80 local officials and community leaders. Members of the team include Sid Williams, project leader and John Riles, both of the State CD office; John Riehl, State Health Department; Bill Harvey, from the University of Mississippi; and Sam Myerscough, from Region Three, Defense Civil Preparedness Agency in Thomasville, Ga.

In explaining On-Site Assistance, Causey said, "We are not here to meddle, we are here to help." He said that the team will interview elected officials, department heads, the military, the media and "every person we can reach who is interested in emergency preparedness."

After the interviews, Causey continued, the team will present their summary and recommendations to the officials and local civil defense directors for their comments. Following that, the team will work out an action plan for this area, he continued.

"Thinking on Civil Defense has changed since the advent of natural disasters such as Hurricane Camille, the earthquakes in California. It is no longer just protection in the event of nuclear attacks but preparation for natural and man-made disasters," Causey pointed out.

"We are not here to pass out money," he emphasized, "but we ARE here to help you work out a complete Civil Defense program." The team will be in this area in approximately two weeks.

The On-Site Assistance program came to Hancock County at the request of county and municipal officials and is performed at no cost to the public.

HOW TO BUY PORK

Do yourself a favor - serve your favorite pork cut or try an unfamiliar cut during Pork Month in Mississippi. You'll benefit and so will the Pork Industry.

Pork is sold fresh, cured and smoked, pickled, and canned. Pork variety meats such as heart, brains, liver, and tongue can be prepared in flavorful dishes and they offer much food value. The pork favorite, ham, may be found in numerous forms, shapes and types. For special occasions, pork offers elegant roasts, butterfly chops, tenderloin, meaty backbones or ribs, sliced bacon, Canadian-style bacon and thick center ham slices.

Economy cuts of pork include Boston butt roast, smoked picnic shoulder, shoulder steaks, shank and butt portions of ham, pigs' feet, jowl and salt pork - all of which are delicious and easy to prepare especially during the cool, crisp days ahead. For bargains to your budget, compare the cost per serving on several of the more numerous, less popular cuts. Remember that hogs are not all chops, hams and spare ribs. A porker also has two shoulders which offer good eating at budget prices. The Boston butt, a square piece of meat from the upper part of the shoulder, leads the rest of the pork cuts in its percentage of lean meat. It contains 84 per cent lean, while a regular ham is 63 per cent lean and loins are 67 per cent lean meat.

Unlike other meats, pork usually is not federally graded. Pork is meat from hogs which are under one year of age. Because the animal is young, the meat is usually tender. However, pork quality will vary and wise shoppers know that appearance is an important guide to quality when selecting pork.

This meat that has a high proportion of lean to fat and bone. The flesh should be fine grained, firm and velvety. The lean meat will be a grayish-pink, marbled with flecks of fat. The exterior fat should be firm, white and not overly thick - about 1/4 inch. Pork that is red instead of pink may still be good quality but is from an older animal.

ADDITIONAL PORK BUYING TIPS

Rib end and loin end pork roasts or chops have a higher proportion of bone than the center cut roasts or chops. However, they also usually sell for less money.

"Water added" to ham means that 10 per cent moisture was added after it was cured and processed.

Country-style spare ribs are meatier than regular bony spare ribs and usually cost less per pound. You get 3 servings per pound from country spare ribs as compared to one from regular spare ribs.

The Boston butt, a square piece of meat from the upper part of the shoulder, leads the rest of the pork cuts in its percentage of lean meat. It contains 84 per cent lean, while ham is 63 per cent and loins are 67 per cent lean meat.

A shank or butt half of ham has had no center cut slices removed. A shank or butt end has some of the center cut slices taken out. The butt part of the ham has a higher proportion of lean meat than the shank part and usually sells for a little more than the shank.

Pork picnics are cut from the lower shoulder and the front leg of the pig. They have about 64 per cent lean meat. Picnics are sold fresh or smoked with bone-in or boneless.

AFTER HARVEST JOBS
Harvest time is a good time to spot field problems and to take soil samples to see if lack of lime and fertilizer are causes of the problem.

Problems could also be diagnosed. Look for special weed problems so that you will know what herbicides will do the best job of controlling the weeds next season.

After harvesting has been completed and the stalks shredded, farmers who have sandy loam to silty loam soil that has been compacted by machinery traffic should subsoil to a depth of 14 to 20 inches. The subsoiling should be done diagonally or perpendicular to the row direction. This subsoiling should be the last trip across the field with equipment until next spring.

PORK MONTH
Did you know that pork is being called the "All-American" meat. Some facts brought out this month by the Mississippi Pork Producers Association during observance of "October Porkfest" cite pork as being 57 percent leaner today than it was only 20 years ago.

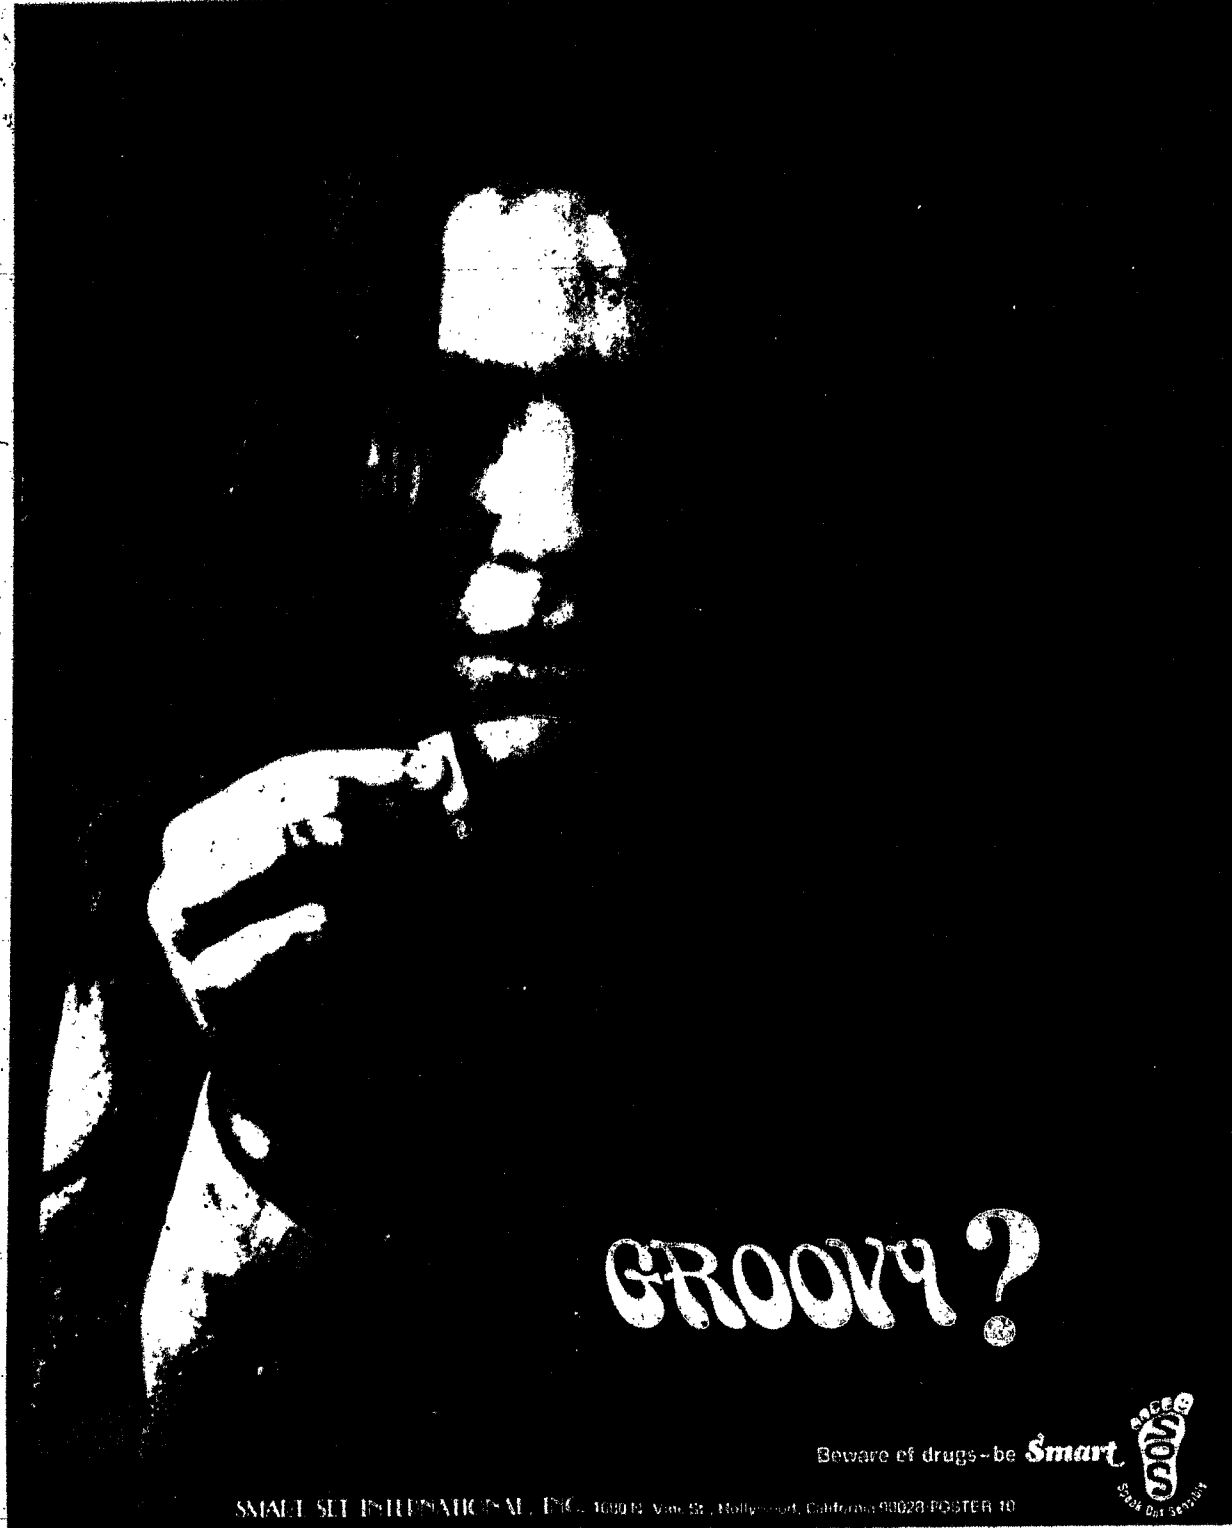

The association also pointed out that pork is available fresh, cured, pickled, smoked and canned. It is 98 percent digestible, is delicious and is one of the most thoroughly utilized meats that you can eat.

LAND FORMING
Nothing will pay greater returns to pot-hole bottom land than land forming. It helps insure earlier planting and more precise application of chemicals and use of cultivation equipment.

Another plus for land forming is better water management without erosion. It is a must for anyone who plans to irrigate.

A farmer considering land forming will find that it is wise to talk with a private or public professional engineer before he starts. He should also check with his county agent and SCS district conservationist.

Mr. Norton Haas, Sr. has accepted the Chairmanship of the Chamber Membership Drive for 1973. He will organize his committee soon and the Drive will be underway in late November, so be prepared.

The Senior Citizens Program is one of the most worthwhile programs offered to any group of people. These elderly people thoroughly enjoy themselves and it makes you realize how little it takes to bring them pleasure, which might otherwise be denied them. If anyone would like to donate items to be used as door prizes and bingo prizes, the Senior Citizens Center will gladly accept them at their office in the Velea C. Jones School, Old Spanish Trail. Did you know that the Senior Citizens bus provides transportation for the elderly of Pearllington, Clermont Harbor, Lakeshore, Waveland, Anslay, Bay St. Louis and Kiln?

Educational TV Station WMAH, Channel 19 out of Biloxi has a program called Job Bank to help people find jobs. Our readers write

Dear Sir:
Just want to congratulate your two fine reporters, on their column, "Red Beans and Rice". As much as I enjoy a plate of Red Beans and rice, I'd rather feast on such contents in their valuable article, under the sub title, "A Greek tragedy-Part I. I shall be looking forward to Part II. You really have two profound intellects, digging into our nitty-gritty governmental problems, and how the multiplicity of these Bureaucratic contradictions, eat into the hearts and minds of some of our low fixed income taxpayers. Last but not least, their meager and measly dollar holding wallets. I was amused over the musical question, "Where do all those federal laws come from?"

I might offer a good guess: The C.F.R., "Council On Foreign Relations," and our unelected Bureaucratic rulers in Washington. Please forgive me, for seeming far fetched, but I just had to mention it in this letter. Officials Discuss Joint use of Oxidation Pond. I wonder why this thing brought to mind the long controversy over the cost and location of the Dome Stadium in N.O. It would take some explaining, making my letter too long.

Sincerely,
Eleanor Everett McFie

Much thanks should be given to the Volunteer Fire Departments in Hancock County. Five Prevention Week just passed Oct. 8 thru 14 and I have never witnessed such wonderful cooperation among men in many a day. The volunteer firemen in the County and the Waveland Fire Dept., the Bay St. Louis Fire Dept., had five drills in every school in Hancock County. In the past two years these men have given of themselves, not only fighting fires, but helping the Community by teaching our children the hazards of fire, inspecting buildings to make sure these are no fire hazards - this and supporting their families at the same time. The untiring effort of these men really makes one believe in their fellow man. Again many thanks to Chief Glen Stockstill of the Kiln Fire Dept., Jay March, East Hancock Fire Dept., Ken Fayard, Waveland and Ritchie Fayard, Bay St. Louis for their wonderful work. Men like these are priceless as well as all their firemen, both paid and volunteer.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Editor,
I am writing in defense of the Bay St. Louis doctors who because of ethics cannot write letters in defense of criticism whether it is just or unjust. Doctors are humans, who pay taxes and spend thousands learning their profession. They are not obligated to tell any one what they make except Uncle Sam. It is their prerogative to deliver babies, and give such service as they wish as we are not under socialized medicine. Being a business woman, and former nurse, I know how much is owed doctors and how many hours they put in ministering to the sick. What a sad place this would be without a hospital and how ironic it would be if the first one who needed the (closed) hospital and a doctor's services would be the one who knocks them the hardest and the most. Yours for truth, more love and less agitation.
Nina Garcia

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

City-County Library Writer

Recently, while looking up some old songs, we discovered an interesting anomaly: the best-loved song of the South was written in the North, and one of the greatest Northern patriotic songs came from the Deep South. Dan Emmett was a minstrel man. He operated a company of black-face singers and dancers which played with great success in theatres in the principal cities in the North and East. While playing in New York City, Emmett decided that he needed a new song for a spot in the show something like Foster's popular Camptown Races with a "cakewalk" swing. So between performances of the show he wrote the words and music of "Dixie," and within a few weeks it was being sung all over the North. It didn't take long for Dixie to get down to where it belonged. When the Civil War started, a few weeks later, the soldiers sang it with enthusiasm in their camps and on the march, and no home gathering was complete without it. In fact, it was so patently a song about and for the South that Northerners soon stopped using it and turned to songs more typical of their own country. But it became popular again in the North when the war ended, and President Lincoln had the blue-coat hands play it during the victory celebration just before his death.

In the meantime, the song that captured popular enthusiasm in the North was Glory Hallelujah later known as Battle Hymn of the Republic. Nobody knows exactly how far back this old tune goes, but it is known to have been sung at camp meetings and revivals in the South in the early 1850s. After John Brown raided Harper's Ferry in 1859 the old camp meeting words, Say, Brothers, Will You Meet Us? were changed to John Brown's Body Lies A-mouldering in the Grave and it quickly became the most popular marching song north of Mason and Dixon's line. During the war the bluecoats sang We'll Hang Jeff Davis to a Sour Apple Tree.

In 1861, Julia Ward Howe was in her room in the Willard Hotel in Washington one evening when a regiment of Union troops marched down Pennsylvania Avenue on their way to the impending battle of First Antietam - singing the John Brown's Body version of the song. She was so moved by the power and majesty of the tune that she sat down at her desk and within an hour had written Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord which quickly replaced the rather ribald words sung up to that time. Known from then on as The Battle Hymn of the Republic it became one of the finest of the nation's patriotic songs.

Thus North and South met by mistake, you might say; the minstrel song of the Yankees became the cherished song of the Southern homeland and the camp-meeting song of the South ended up as the North's great anthem.

Two Given Life Sentence For Rape

by Adlene Smith
Bay St. Louis, Miss.
A jury of 12 men and two women deliberated for 10 hours before returning a verdict of guilty of rape against Gerold Lynn Burge and Henry C. Bennett, accused of sexually assaulting a 16-year-old Biloxi girl Sept. 11, 1972 in Hancock County.

The verdict came at the conclusion of a three-day trial in Hancock County Circuit Court. Judge Floyd Logan presided. The sentence was mandatory as the jury could not come to an agreement on a sentence.

Larry Garland Bennett, 26, a brother of Henry Bennett, and also a defendant in the case, was granted a con-donation until the January term of Hancock County Circuit Court.

The three young men, initially natives of the Piquette area, were arrested and charged with aggravated rape after they picked up the girl and her 15-year-old brother the night of Sept. 11 when the two juveniles were hitchhiking on U.S. Highway 90. Later that night the girl told Sheriff's Deputy Emile Piazza that she had been attacked by all three men at an isolated spot on Highway 90 near the Miss. Test Facility.

In a day-long court session Oct. 10, the girl and her brother as well as three other state's witnesses testified against the 21-year-old defendants. Under examination by District Attorney Albert Necaise and Asst. District Attorney Harold DeMetz, the high school senior and her brother told essentially the same story; that the two youths were running away from their Biloxi home following a quarrel with their parents, and that they were picked up by the three men driving a Green pickup truck on Highway 90 "near a shopping center" in Long Beach.

Judge Logan cleared the courtroom for the girl's testimony when she related details of the trip to the spot on Highway 90 where she said the truck pulled off the highway and stopped. She broke down and cried when she began to describe how Burge, then Gerald Bennett forced her to submit to them in the back of the truck, threatening her and her brother with bodily harm if she did not.

Her brother testified that the three men took turns holding him in front of the truck while they attacked his sister. Although the girl testified that Larry Bennett did not touch her, she said that he was present during the rape.

The girl and her brother said the men then left them off on the highway by a T.L. James construction shack where they called the Hancock sheriff's office. A guard in the construction shack testified that the girl was "terribly upset and crying" when they came to him for help.

The fifth witness Tuesday, Dr. James H. Christman, a U.S. Air Force physician stationed at the medical center at Keesler AFB, examined the girl about two hours after the incident occurred and said on the witness stand "that his examination proved that intercourse had occurred."

In Wednesday's session, both Burge and Bennett admitted that they had had sexual relations with the girl but denied that they had forced her. Burge said she had offered herself to them if they would take her and her brother to New Orleans. The three men each testified that when they stopped the truck on Highway 90 to avoid hitting a car ahead, the girl and her brother just climbed in the back.

Burge said after his arrest in Slidell, he was beaten by the girl's brother, a Hancock County sheriff's deputy and several Louisiana state troopers. Burge's mother, who was put on the witness stand, said that her son had facial and head injuries when she saw him two days after his arrest.

DeMetz finished the case for the prosecution: the final day of the trial, as Necaise was ill. Attorneys for the defense, J. Ruble Griffin and J.C. Compton, did not indicate whether or not an appeal would be filed.

Post Office Announces Changes In Mail Services

Area Mail Processing, the newest innovation of the U.S. Postal Service will be installed in the Gulf Coast Area on Saturday, October 21, 1972 at the Gulfport Post Office, according to Carl C. Ulsaker, regional Postmaster General, Southern Postal Region.

This program is intended to speed the ultimate delivery of the mail and to gain maximum efficiency through the full utilization of the sophisticated equipment at the Gulfport office. A new facer-canceller machine has been installed to effectively assist in moving the increased volume of mail that will be received from the associate offices.

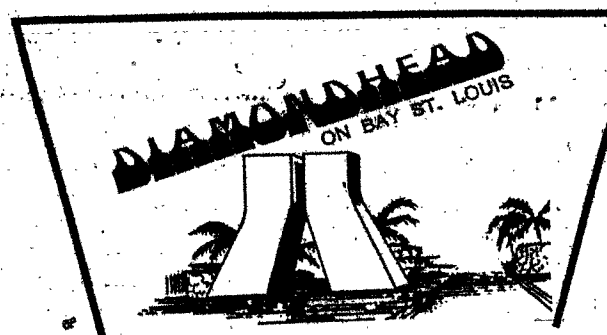

The Gulfport Office is a Sectional Center Facility, and the new system will revolve entirely around that capacity and that function. Area Mail Processing is a plan whereby all mail originating within a Sectional Center area, including any and all of the associate offices of the center, will be consolidated at the Sectional Center Facility for complete preparation and processing for outgoing dispatch. All mail deposited in the street letter boxes and at the out-of-town drops of the associate offices will be transferred to the Sectional Center Facility for processing and will bear the postmark of the SCF area. The Gulfport SCF postmark will read: "U.S. Postal Service, Ms. 395" along with the date and AM or PM time designation. The city postmark for Gulfport and that of each individual office will not be changed.

Mail deposited in a designated drop at any Post Office or in any box labeled "FOR LOCAL CANCELLATION" will be postmarked at the office of origin bearing the name of that office. Each Postmaster will have deposit boxes or letter drop units for this specific purpose. All metered mail will bear the postmark of the office of origin.

Of special note is the need to eliminate the practice of using the word "CITY" or "LOCAL" for the destination of letters. In the new system, a letter bearing "city" or "local" would completely lose its identity when brought to the SCF for processing.

Post offices affected by this program in the Gulfport area are: Bay St. Louis, Biloxi, Long Beach, Moss Point, Ocean Springs, Pascagoula, Pass Christian, Escatawpa, Gautier, Perkinston, Waveland and Wiggins.

King Heroin Is My Shepherd, I Shall Always Want...

These tragic words, part of a twisted rewording of the beloved 23d Psalm, were discovered recently in Reidsville, N.C., in a closed car alongside a dead heroin addict. She was 23 years old.

Her death was ruled a suicide. A hookup with the car's exhaust had sent carbon monoxide fumes from a running motor into the vehicle. Here's the complete "Psalm":

"King Heroin is my shepherd: I shall always want, He maketh me to lie down in the gutter.

"He leadeth me besides the troubled waters, He destroyeth my soul.

"He leadeth me in the paths of wickedness.

"Yea, I shall walk thru the valley of poverty and will fear no evil for thou, Heroin, art with me.

"Thy Needle and Capule comfort me. Thou strippest the table of groceries in the presence of my family. Thou robbest my head of reason.

"My cup of sorrow runneth over. Surely heroin addiction shall stalk me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the House of the Damned forever."

Also found in the car with the dead woman was this written message:

"Jail didn't cure me. Nor did hospitalization help me for long. The doctor told my family it would have been better, and indeed kinder, if the person who got me hooked on dope had taken a gun and blown my brains out. And I wish to God he had. My God, how I wish it."

BE IT REMEMBERED that on the 10th day of July, 1972, there was a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District, which meeting was held in the office of the Superintendent of City Schools at 7:30 P.M. Present at said meeting were William E. Breland, Robert L. Hamilton, Thomas Kidd, Mrs. Joseph Gex, and Emile Hazeur, who constitute the entire board.

There came on for consideration the matter of borrowing the sum of $35,000 for the purpose of repairing and renovating the exterior of the Bay Junior High School building and the furnishing and installation of two fire escapes for said school building, and the Board having duly considered the matter finds that it is necessary to make a loan for said amount; whereupon, Thomas Kidd moved the adoption of the following resolution, to-wit:

RESOLUTION OF THE MUNICIPAL SEPARATE SCHOOL DISTRICT BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI, REQUESTING THE MAYOR AND BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS TO BORROW MONEY ON SHORT TERM NOTES OR CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS TO BE USED FOR THE PURPOSE OF REPAIRING AND RENOVATING THE EXTERIOR OF THE BAY JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING AND FURNISHING AND INSTALLING TWO FIRE ESCAPES FOR SAID SCHOOL BUILDING, SAID LOAN TO BE MADE UNDER AUTHORIZATION OF HOUSE BILL, 21, EXTRAORDINARY LEGISLATIVE SESSION OF 1963, AND ALL AMENDMENTS THERETO, INCLUDING CHAPTER 275 OF THE LAWS OF 1956, CHAPTERS 409 AND 410, LAWS OF 1968, AND CHAPTER 384, LAWS OF 1970, REGULAR SESSIONS OF THE LEGISLATURE (SECTIONS 6533-01 THROUGH 6533-11, MISSISSIPPI CODE OF 1942, ANNOTATED, RECOMPILLED, AND ALL AMENDMENTS THERETO).

WHEREAS, the Municipal Separate School District Board of Trustees of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, is of the opinion and so finds and adjudges that in order to make necessary repairs and renovations to the exterior of the Bay Junior High School Building located at the intersection of Uman Avenue and North Second Street, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, and to furnish and install two fire escapes for said school building that such improvements, renovations and repairs must be paid for out of funds to be provided by the City Council of the City of Bay St. Louis; and

WHEREAS, the Board finds that there are no funds available which can be used for the repairs and renovations to the exterior of said school building and the furnishing and installing of two fire escapes; and

Scientists Review Grant Programs

Scientists from all parts of the country held a meeting Tuesday at NASA's Mississippi Test Facility to review resources and programs of the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Program.

The Universities Marine Center, located at Ocean Springs, MS, is the local administrator of Sea Grant.

The Center is a consortium of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, Mississippi State University, University of Mississippi, University of Southern Mississippi, Auburn University, Tuskegee Institute, University of South Alabama, University of Alabama (Huntsville), University of Alabama

(Birmingham), and the University of Alabama (Tuscaloosa). Dr. Sidney Upham is Center director.

Following welcoming remarks by Dr. Upham, Jackson M. Balch, NASA-MTF director, gave a brief overview on activities underway at the Hancock County site.

After plenary and program review sessions, the group viewed the U.S. Geological Survey's Flood Plain Simulation Facility and Hydroscience Laboratory; Mississippi State University's Ecological Research Ponds; the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's

National Data Buoy Center and National Marine Fisheries Service's Salt Water Impoundment Tank; and the Mississippi State University Complex.

Some 20 federal, state and university elements are now engaged in space and environmental research at MTF which is a part of the NASA Marshall Space Flight Center.

News From
Hancock General Hospital

(This week, The Sea Coast Echo welcomes the addition of a weekly column written by staff members of Hancock General Hospital. The column will contain news about HGH which will be of general interest to the public.)

Since Camille we see signs everywhere. These signs say to us "We Care". In here even more than out there. People truly must know that "We Care".

Most jobs are done with the hand and the mind. With our job this is only the start. For our mind and our hands could do little good. If our work is not done with our heart.

The preceding lyric is an original composition coming to you by way of Hancock General Hospital's new operating room and emergency room supervisor—Mrs. Marjorie Rayfield. In the short time that she has spent with us, Mrs. Rayfield has managed to capture the spirit of HGH—“We Care”—enough to want to give the very best. Welcome Mrs. Rayfield.

Of interest at Hancock General Hospital is the newly decorated Pediatric's room done by our local Junior Auxiliary and at present a project is underway to decorate the remaining room reserved for pediatric patients.

A contest was held among HGH employees to design a service pin. Winners are to be selected this week and appropriate prizes awarded. Service pins will be given to employees who have been with HGH for five consecutive years or longer.

HGH will take part in the county fair. See you there.

Reflections

THIS IS the way 25th Avenue in our sister city of Gulfport looked in 1917. Perhaps some of our readers can remember a few of the stores and business places facing that street in 1917. The long rows of vintage cars should certainly bring back many memories for some. Photo courtesy of Mr. Thomas Dedeaux. (Readers are urged to submit photos to the Echo for use in Reflections. Photos will be returned unharmed at the Echo office in Bay St. Louis. Use of all photos is left to the discretion of the editor.)

ALTAR GUILD

Our Lady of the Gulf Altar Guild met last Thursday with Mrs. Ivan Bradford, president, conducting the business session.

Very Rev. Gregory Johnson, pastor, OLG Church, offered the opening and closing prayers.

During the brief business meeting a discussion on new vestments was held and it was announced membership dues are now payable.

Hostesses for the social hour were Mesdames Frank LaRosa, John Solak and Bradford.

DISTRICT MEETING

Members of Altrusa International, District Four will meet this weekend in Jackson, Miss. Those representing the Bay-Waveland Altrusa Club are Mesdames Virginia Gex, Mildred Switzer, Helen Neale and Milles. Jeannette Monti and Nanci Campbell.

FASHION FAIR

The Vogue Socialite Club, Inc. will sponsor the EBONY FASHION FAIR November 3, at 8 p.m. at the Sheraton-Biloxi Motor Inn. This performance will benefit the scholarship fund of the organization.

King Heroin Is My Shepherd, I Shall Always Want...

These tragic words, part of a twisted rewording of the beloved 23rd Psalm, were discovered recently in Reidsville, N.C., in a closed car alongside a dead heroin addict. She was 23 years old.

Her death was ruled a suicide. A hookup with the car's exhaust had sent carbon monoxide fumes from a running motor into the vehicle. Here's the complete "Psalm".

"King Heroin is my shepherd. I shall always want. He maketh me to lie down in the gutter.

"He leadeth me besides the troubled waters. He destroyeth my soul.

"He leadeth me in the paths of wickedness.

"Yea, I shall walk thru the valley of poverty and will fear no evil for thou, Heroin, are with me.

"Thy Needle and Capsule comfort me. Thou strippest the table of groceries in the presence of my family. Thou robbest my head of reason.

"My cup of sorrow runneth over. Surely heroin addiction shall stalk me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the House of the Damned forever."

Also found in the car with the dead woman was this written message:

"Jail didn't cure me. Nor did hospitalization help me for long. The doctor told my family it would have been better, and indeed kinder, if the person who got me hooked on dope had taken a gun and blown my brains out. And I wish to God he had. My God, how I wish it."

Scientists Review Grant Programs

Scientists from all parts of the country held a meeting Tuesday at NASA's Mississippi Test Facility to review resources, and programs of the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Program. The Universities Marine Center, located at Ocean Springs, MS, is the local administrator of Sea Grant. The Center is a consortium of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, Mississippi State University, University of Mississippi, University of Southern Mississippi, Auburn University, Tuskegee Institute, University of South Alabama, University of Alabama (Huntsville), University of Alabama

(Birmingham), and the University of Alabama (Tuscaloosa). Dr. Sidney Upham is Center director.

Following welcoming remarks by Dr. Upham, Jackson M. Balch, NASA, MTF director, gave a brief overview on activities underway at the Hancock County site.

After plenary and program review sessions, the group viewed the U.S. Geological Survey's Flood Plain Simulation Facility and Hydroscience Laboratory; Mississippi State University's Ecological Research Ponds; the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's

National Data Buoy Center and National Marine Fisheries Service's Salt Water Impoundment Tank; and the Mississippi State University Complex.

Some 20 federal, state and university scientists are now engaged in space and environmental research at MTF, which is a part of the NASA Marshall Space Flight Center.

News From
Hancock General Hospital

(This week, The Sea Coast Echo welcomes the addition of a weekly column written by staff members of Hancock General Hospital. The column will contain news about HGH which will be of general interest to the public.)

Since Camille we see signs everywhere
These signs say to us "We Care"
In here even more than out there
People truly must know that "We Care"

Most jobs are done with the hand and the mind
With our job this is only the start
For our mind and our hands could do little good.
If our work is not done with our heart

The preceding lyric is an original composition coming to you by way of Hancock General Hospital's new operating room and emergency room supervisor—Mrs. Marjorie Rayfield. In the short time that she has spent with us, Mrs. Rayfield has managed to capture the spirit of HGH—"We Care"—enough to want to give the very best. Welcome Mrs. Rayfield.

Of interest at Hancock General Hospital is the newly decorated Pediatric's room done by our local Junior Auxiliary and at present a project is underway to decorate the remaining room reserved for pediatric patients.

A contest was held among HGH employees to design a service pin. Winners are to be selected this week and appropriate prizes awarded. Service pins will be given to employees who have been with HGH for five consecutive years or longer.

HGH will take part in the county fair. See you there.

Reflections

THIS IS the way 25th Avenue in our sister city of Gulfport looked in 1917. Perhaps some of our readers can remember a few of the stores and business places facing that street in 1917. The long rows of vintage cars should certainly bring back many memories for some. Photo courtesy of Mr. Thomas Dedesux. (Readers are urged to submit photos to the Echo for use in Reflections. Photos will be returned unharmed at the Echo office in Bay St. Louis. Use of all photos is left to the discretion of the editor.)

ALTAR GUILD

Our Lady of the Gulf Altar Guild met last Thursday with Mrs. Ivan Bradford, president, conducting the business session.

Very Rev. Gregory Johnson, pastor, OLG Church, offered the opening and closing prayers.

During the brief business meeting a discussion on new vestments was held and it was announced membership dues are now payable.

Hostesses for the social hour were Mesdames Frank LaRosa, John Sotak and Bradford.

DISTRICT MEETING

Members of Altrusa International, District Four will meet this weekend in Jackson, Miss. Those representing the Bay-Waveland Altrusa Club are Mesdames Virginia Gex, Mildred Switzer, Helen Necaise and Miles. Jeannette Monti and Nanci Campbell.

FASHION FAIR

The Vogue Socialite Club, Inc. will sponsor the EBONY FASHION FAIR November 3, at 8 p.m. at the Sheraton-Biloxi Motor Inn. This performance will benefit the scholarship fund of the organization.

"REACH OUT AND TOUCH SOMEBODY ELSE" - Chuck Ryan and Dianne Kelly were the featured entertainers at the combined Agencies kickoff for the United Fund at the Mississippi Test Facility Thursday. The well-known singing duo presented a special program in song entitled, "Giving from the Heart." A special number, "Light My Fire," was dedicated to the new Miss MTF Torch Bettie Cashion at the conclusion of the program. (Echo staff photo by Susan Irby)

Mrs. Bettie Cashion of Playune, a secretary with the National Data Buoy Center at NASA, was crowned Miss MTF Torch 1972-73 during kickoff ceremonies Thursday for the Combined Agencies Campaign of the United Fund.

A native of Freer, Texas, Mrs. Cashion was chosen from among seven other candidates, all representing various contractors and agencies at the Mississippi Test Facility.

Mrs. Cashion attended Freer High School in Texas before coming to Mississippi. First alternate to the new Miss Torch was Becky Smith, also of Playune, a secretary with the National Oceanographic Recreation Center.

As Miss MTF Torch, Mrs. Cashion will serve as the representative of the spirit of the United Fund through appearances at luncheons, banquets and various United Fund functions. Her selection was made on the basis of poise, appearance, and personality.

She was crowned by the outgoing Miss Torch, Margaret Gill, and presented a bouquet of roses by Dewey Little, contest chairman.

The other candidates and their sponsors were Pat Baker, NASA; Barbara Bassett, General Electric; Barbara Hobgood, Lockheed; Jennifer Mitchell, Global Associates; Pam Stockstill, General Dynamics; and Ruth Thompson, Westinghouse.

Special entertainment for the afternoon was provided by the well-known singing duo of Chuck Ryan and Dianne Kelly, who are currently appearing in the Medallion Room of the Ramada Inn in Long Beach. They presented a special program for the occasion entitled "Giving from the Heart" which included the song "Light My Fire" following the crowning of Miss Torch.

Following a luncheon at the MTF cafeteria, a brief appeal was made to guests and NASA employees by UF workers. Reporting the activities of their agencies were Johnny Bearden, Harrison County; Mrs. C.R. Beyer, Hancock County; Fred Henley, Pearl River County; Les Deas, National Health Agency; and Mrs. Ruth B. Ferrari, International Service Agencies.

Mrs. Arnette Giles, National Volunteer for 1971, spoke on behalf of the Retarded Children's Association and received a standing ovation from the audience.

Jackson M. Balch, director of MTF, and general campaign chairman, asked everyone to search their hearts and find their goal there for the United Fund.

This year's goal is $433,000 to be donated to the United Funds of Harrison, Hancock and Pearl River Counties in Mississippi, the Greater New Orleans Area in Louisiana, the National Health Agencies, and the International Welfare Agencies.

The Combined Agencies Campaign is the single drive authorized to be conducted at MTF each year, according to Wallace Brown, 1972-73 drive chairman. Its principal purpose is to raise funds for organized charities and social agencies in neighboring communities.

Members of this year's campaign executive committee are W.S. Fuller, executive assistant; Victor Frankiewicz, logistics; Dewey Little, special events; Dr. F.S. Schultz and Thomas Hardison, special advisors; E.L. Lovell, publicity assistant; William Ezell, financial assistant; William Barentine, director, Industrial Drive; H.H. Quinton, director, Federal Agencies Drive.

Griffin told the board that the aforementioned infractions of necessary sanitary and waste measures resulted when the subdivisions were built before subdivision regulations were enforced by the county. No action was taken by the board on Alliston's recommendations.

A third appeal for board sanction to move into more spacious quarters was brought by E.E. Breland from the office of the county superintendent of education. The superintendent had sent members of his office twice in the past to request approval to move from the present location on Main St., next door into the larger McDonald Bldg. A motion by Jerry Ladner to agree to the move died for lack of a second. Beat five supervisor James Travirca suggested a board inspection of the proposed quarters and the matter was tabled pending the inspection.

Bids were opened for the purchase of two vehicles, one for the sheriff's office and a pickup truck for beat one.

James Ruhr submitted the lowest bid for a used Ford pickup truck, which was purchased by the county for he bid price of $2,500.

On the recommendation of Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, the board authorized purchase of a 1974 four-door Oldsmobile sedan from Hillie Oldsmobile agency for $5,500 for the sheriff's department. The Law Enforcement Assistance Division will receive $2,500.00 of the total price and the county's share will be $3,000.00.

entire sewerage system, but felt that there was little hope in obtaining the funds. Referring to a law recently passed by Congress whereby the federal government would pay 75 percent for construction of sewerage systems and treatment plants, Frisbie explained that the law had not yet been signed by President Richard Nixon. (The President vetoed the bill late Tuesday and it was returned to Congress to override Nixon's veto.)

Mayor Carver agreed that the cost was high but he still felt something should be done. Later in the meeting, Frisbie and Carver had an argument over the use of city water by Breland Construction Company, contractors on the Beach Road project.

According to Frisbie, Breland had recently been using water from a city hydrant without proper authority. "When city utility crews discovered the construction company doing so, they put a stop to it," Frisbie said.

He then asked Mayor Carver to stop telling people he (Frisbie) wouldn't let Breland use the water to wash down the road. "I have never been approached by anyone from Breland requesting to purchase water and I will not let them use it without charge," he contended. Frisbie was referring to the fact that when Beach Road merchants had called the Mayor's office about city's refusal to allow Breland the use of the water, the Mayor had referred them to Frisbie, saying, "It's his department."

"It is the contractor's responsibility to rectify a problem and it is not my fault if they want free city water to do so. I will be glad to sell them as much water as needed," Frisbie said, "but I will not give any private contractor free water."

Following the meeting, Frisbie pointed out that it cost only $22.43 to purchase 50,000 gallons of water. This, he said, amounts to approximately ten truckloads.

In other action, the council: -Will consider calling another referendum on the proposed Neighborhood Development Program.

-Agreed to purchase a new automobile for the Police Department.

-Took under advisement a lone bid from Martin Blough Co. for the installation of a warning system.

-Passed a resolution honoring David Johns for his participation in McDonald's All-American Band.

Commission To Upgrade Eight State Parks

A vast new construction program affecting eight state parks and costing 6 million dollars has been approved by the State Building Commission, and was made known in a joint announcement by Dr. John M. King, executive director of the Mississippi Park Commission, and by Joe P. Tubb, chairman of the Board of Commissioners. Chairman Tubb said, "This building program will be financed through the sale of state bonds authorized by the passage of House Bill No. 660 - a 25 million dollar state bond bill for renovation and new construction of state parks. This bond bill was approved by the last session of the Mississippi Legislature. The Legislature limited the park development program to 5 million dollars each year for the next five years. Also, the Park Commission has at its disposal another 1 million dollars in matching federal funds which will be made available through the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, for the first year total of 6 million dollars. Because our existing park facilities are for the most part in need of major repair and renovation, the Commission placed first-year priority on those facilities which need immediate attention in these parks which have the greatest need, primarily the older parks."

Dr. King said, "Since the time of issuance and sale of state bonds by the State Bond Commission will be determined by a favorable interest rate on the money market, we hope to be able to receive an advancement of interim construction funds from the State Building Commission so that we may proceed with construction as quickly as we can."

The following is a general breakdown of park improvements to be provided by the 6 million dollar construction program:

In PERCY QUIN STATE PARK, most of the park's existing facilities (the lodge, cabins, boat landing area, group picnicking, playground, etc.) will receive extensive renovation. Some of the park's new construction will include a new group camp, picnic facilities, playground equipment, etc. Due to the heavy use of the park's lodge, special emphasis will be given to renovation of the lodge to promote an even greater use of the facility. The building plan also calls for renovation of existing roads and parking areas and a general overall beautification of the park.

At Paul B. Johnson State Park, part of the park's building plan calls for renovation of many of the available facilities. Items such as cabins, family campgrounds, picnic areas, and swimming areas are scheduled to be refurbished. New facilities to be made available by construction activities include a playground area with new equipment, and new picnic accommodations. Innovative playground equipment is planned for the park, stressing age characteristics of children.

For CLARKCO STATE PARK, several new facilities are scheduled to be constructed along with the renovation of some of the existing accommodations. New construction items include cabins, picnicking accommodations, and boating facilities. Some of the existing facilities to be renovated are: family campgrounds, picnic facilities, existing park roads, etc. Special consideration is being given to improvement of the swimming area facilities, with emphasis also being given to new boating equipment.

In TOMBIGBEE STATE PARK, some of the principal facilities to be refurbished are the park lodge, playground areas, existing roads, and boat docks. Items of new construction include individual picnic facilities, playground area and equipment. Some existing roads are to be resurfaced. Renovation of the park lodge is proposed in an effort to promote further use of the facility. Addition of new picnic shelters, tables, grills, also fall under the park's plan.

For TISHOMINGO STATE

PARK, emphasis will be placed on renovation of several existing facilities, but not limited to: the park's lodge, museum building, cabins, playground area, etc. Items of new construction include picnic facilities, group camp and boating facilities. At J. P. COLEMAN STATE PARK, facilities slated to be renovated include: the park lodge, boat marina, swimming area, and cabins. New facility construction will provide playground, picnic facilities, assistant park manager's house, and a new maintenance building. Highlighting the planned new construction activities will be the addition of new playground equipment to complement the existing play facilities. Renovation of the park's massive inn/restaurant also ranks high on the park's improvement program.

In WALL DOWNEY STATE PARK, some of the park facilities scheduled to be renovated are: the park's lodge, bathhouse, activity building, nature trails, cabins, roads, and parking area. As new construction, attention will be given to boating and picnicking facilities. Also planned is a new group camp.

For HOLMES COUNTY STATE PARK, the building plan calls for refurbishment of many of the existing facilities, some of which are: the swimming area, cabins, the family campground, the park entrance, and the park manager's residence. A few items under the heading of new construction are boating facilities, picnicking facilities, and replacement of park utilities. Also included in the park plan is the renovation of park roads. Special attention is planned for renovation and expansion of the family campground area to accommodate increasing numbers of overnight visitors.

In all parks, existing sewage and water utilities are to be upgraded to meet new state and federal health and anti-pollution standards.

Also, in each park, a program of beautification and scenic enhancement will be initiated as a high priority item. Park roads and parking areas will be upgraded where needed, with many to be resurfaced. Park entrances will be made more attractive. Emphasis in new construction will be placed on activity to better provide opportunity to meet leisure activity interests.

Dr. King hailed the total 25 million dollar construction program as a landmark in the provision of expanded park opportunities. He said, "This far-reaching program which would have been called visionary a few years ago will provide many more high quality facilities for recreation enthusiasts to enjoy for many years to come. Work on this program is scheduled to begin as soon as funds can be secured for its implementation. Additional facilities, even several new parks, will be provided during the second, third, fourth, and fifth years of this five year park improvement program."

Bulldogs Crush Bluedevils

The Gulfview Bulldogs defeated the Pearl River Central Bluedevils, Saturday, by a score of 24-0.

The Bulldogs' first score came in the first quarter when George Waltman ran back a 45-yard punt for six points, and quarterback Jeff Walwright passed to Tim Finch for the conversion. The score was then 8-0.

After the kickoff, the Bulldog defense added two points from a safety on the Bluedevil quarterback.

At the start of the second quarter, Wesley Moran recovered a fumble and Gulfview had it again. On the first play from scrimmage, and James Berry took a long lead pass from Walwright making it 16-0. The two point conversion was no good and the half ended.

The third quarter was mostly punts from both teams, but the Bulldogs cranked up again when Walwright hit Tim Finch for a TD. The conversion pass was from Walwright to his end James Berry. Bulldogs Coach Teel said of his team, "They simply played their hearts out, that's all." Their record is 6-2-0.

Friday, October 20, the Bulldogs will face the Hancock North Central Hawks. A parade will begin at 2 p.m. at the beach in Clermont Harbor going down the boulevard across the track, and down the Lower Bay Road to the school. The game will begin at 4 p.m. but the homecoming court will be introduced before the game begins. The queen, Miss Patricia Asher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Asher of Highway 90, Bay St. Louis, will be presented a bouquet of flowers by Mr. L.C. Ladner, principal of the school. Her court is Miss Myra Lott, Miss Mary Schmitt, Miss Lesia Ladner and Miss Betty Cochran.

Yacht Club Will Hold Regatta

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club will hold its local Sunfish Regatta October 21 and 22. All Sunfish skippers will be divided into four groups, each sailing a separate three-race series. Winners from these groups will then compete in the final three-race Championship Series.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Skippers' meeting is scheduled for 10 o'clock and start of the first race will be at 11 with each subsequent race starting 15 minutes after the last boat crosses the finish line. Crews will be optional. Boats will be assigned numbers at registration and each skipper will be responsible for displaying his number conspicuously on his sail. Each boat must have a Coast Guard approved life jacket for each person on board.

Defending champion of 1971 is Gigi Staehle, who will be competing again this year. Trophies will be presented after the final race Sunday.

IS THIS LOAD of fly-speckled fish and trash yours? City cleanup crews found it in a ditch on Dunbar Ave. near Boardman. We'd like to think the owner isn't a Bay St. Louis resident and Felix Seeger, superintendent of public grounds, says he knows it isn't a local school student. "For two years school kids have worked too hard to help keep the city clean," Seeger said, "I don't think any of them would do this." The next time this fisherman loses his catch it could cost him $50.

He knows the job of a legislator. HE IS ONE.

At a youthful 37, Ben Stone's popularity among 5th District voters is already beyond question.

Since 1967 he has been a candidate in five elections and has won them all.

Now in his second term as a state senator, Ben has within the past six months emerged the winner in two hard-fought congressional primaries.

Such resounding votes of public confidence come as no surprise to those familiar with his record of public service. He has demonstrated that he is more than a legislator... he is a leader, in the most dynamic sense of that much-abused word.

Ben Stone will make a good congressman because he is a responsive, responsible leader... because he listens, and his care and concerns are expressed in action; and because he already knows the job of a legislator. He is one.

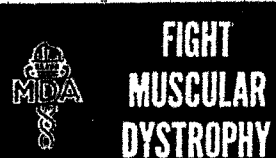

BEN STONE'S ONLY OBLIGATION IS TO YOU!

MR. AND MRS. ORA J. LADNER

Ceremony Unites Ladner-Moran

The marriage of Luvia V. Moran and Ora J. Ladner was performed September 23 at the American Legion Hall, White Cypress Community, by Justice of the Peace Roger Dale Ladner.

Given in marriage by her son, Oliver Moran, the bride wore a blue knit street length dress, matching accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Miss Diantha Moran, niece of the bride, was maid of honor and Larry Ladner attended the groom as best man. A reception was held following the ceremony. The bride's table, overlaid with a white linen cutwork cloth, was centered with a four-tiered cake topped with a traditional bride and groom ornament. Candelabra with arrangements of white mums were on either side.

Mrs. Norma Ladner, daughter of the bride, assisted by Mesdames Barbara Moran, Agnes Moran, Della Smith, Cecile Olier and George Shiyon and Miss Sally Mae Hoffman presided at the cake table. Mrs. James L. Nechaise kept the guest register.

The couple will make their home in Kila.

Start The Morning Right

Despite widespread concern about nutrition, many people are still skipping or skimping on breakfast. The excuses are all familiar — "I don't have time," "I'm trying to lose weight," or "I'm just not hungry in the morning." But nutritional authorities point out that breakfast is a must.

Scientific studies have shown that people who do not eat an adequate breakfast have slower reaction times and are not as mentally alert as those who do have a good breakfast. In other words, your body needs energy and nutrients in the morning to function properly and efficiently.

Breakfast should contain about 25% of your daily nutritional needs. A bowl of cereal with milk, a glass of juice, toast with butter and milk to drink will meet most people's morning nutritional needs and supply the energy to keep them going all morning long.

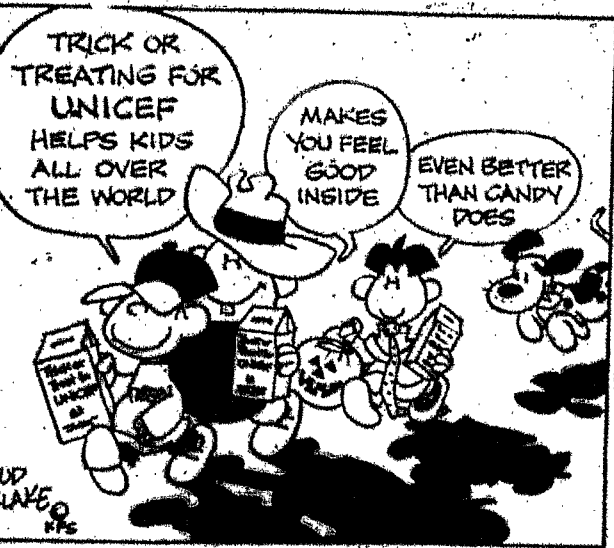

Those people who say they are "just not hungry" may be tired of the usual breakfast fare. Tempt them with Caramel-Pineapple Cereal Casserole. This golden brown whole wheat cereal casserole can be made in the time it takes coffee to brew.

CARAMEL-PINEAPPLE CEREAL CASSEROLE

1 can (8 1/2 ounces) sliced pineapple, drained
3 cups liquid, pineapple syrup and water as needed to make measure
1/2 teaspoon salt

1 cup instant hot whole wheat cereal
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1 tablespoon water
1 cup chopped pecans

Drain pineapple slices; save syrup or juices and add water as needed to make liquid. Add salt and bring to boil. Add cereal slowly in a fine stream to boiling water, stirring constantly, and cook as directed on package label. Spoon hot cereal into 8-inch baking dish or casserole. Top with pineapple slices. Melt butter or margarine in fry pan; add brown sugar, water, and pecans. Heat and stir until mixture is bubbly and syrupy. Drizzle over cereal and pineapple slices. Serve immediately, or cool, cover, and chill overnight in refrigerator. Then in the morning bake in 375°F. oven until heated through, approximately 15 minutes. Yield, 4 servings.

Prices good thru Oct. 24th.

It saved lives. And it made the lives that were saved more meaningful.

Put some money in the box. Or send what you can to: UNICEF Halloween, c/o United Nations, New York, N.Y. 10017. We know some children who are waiting.

MEDICAID SCREENING

Dr. Louis H. Jobe, County Health Officer, urges eligible families in Hancock County to take advantage of the Medicaid Screening Program available at the local health department.

The health department will notify those who are eligible to receive this service and appointments for children in the family will be made at that time.

"Parents are urged to bring their children at the time of appointment; however, if it becomes impossible to keep the appointment, another one should be arranged," said Dr. Jobe, "since this screening enables eligible children to obtain needed health services."

All Medicaid Screening Program provides for general health testing of children and treatment if the need is indicated.

Very Rev. Gregory Johnson, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. John McKenna, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and appropriate selections during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of cloud white silk organza over bridal satin. Tucked organza and Venice lace floral motifs and appliques delicately defined the rounded collar and formed a mock panel and wide border edging the hem and chapel train. Her veil of illusion fell from a lace covered Juliet capulet. She carried a cascade bouquet of white fleur d'amour and leather leaf fern centered with a white cymbidium corsage.

Mrs. Aline Kothmann Bay St. Louis, served as matron of honor and Miss Annette Lombardo, Bay St. Louis, sister of the groom was maid of honor. They wore floor length gowns of black velvet trimmed in white satin, white gloves and daisy headpieces. They carried cascades of yellow pompons and leather leaf fern.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Parish Hall. The bride's table, overlaid with a lace cloth, was centered with a three-tiered cake trimmed with pale pink roses flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers. Mrs. Billy Osburn, Chalmette, La., presided at the cake table and Mrs. Deanie Austin, Lakeshore, cousin of the groom, kept the guest register. Miss Katherine Karl, Bay St. Louis served as a tea girl.

The mother of the groom chose for the occasion a blue knit coat-dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

For traveling the bride wore a red knit long sleeve blouse with a floor length red plaid pleated skirt and blue accessories. The couple will make their home in Bay St. Louis.

Poindexter - Helms Vows Exchanged

At a ceremony marked with unusual simplicity, Miss Nancy Louise Helms became the bride of Michael Lamar Poindexter, Chief Warrant Officer, United States Army, on Saturday, September 16, at 8 p.m. in the Episcopal Church of the Nativity, Dothan, Alabama. The rector, The Reverend William C. Acosta, officiated at the double-ring service before members of the families. Mr. Robert Livingston, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edward Benjamin Subowsty, Daleville, and Ben Wayland Helms, Enterprise. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. David Lamar Poindexter, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. Grandparents of the bride are Mrs. William A. Whigham and the late Mr. and Mrs. John I. Helms, all of Enterprise. The groom's grandparents are Mrs. Dorothy Yaryan of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, and Dr. Paul F. Orr of Perryburg, Ohio, and Mrs. Lamar Poindexter and the late Mr. Poindexter of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a semi-fitted gown of white crepe that fell unseamed from a high yoke. Made with a jewel neckline, the yoke extended into bell-shaped sleeves that tapered into points below the wrists. The controlled skirt in which a single large gusset shaped a chapel train accented the simple elegance of the gown. Her full-length mantilla was edged in lace and held with a lace headpiece. A single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom, was her only jewelry. She carried a natural bouquet of long stemmed white roses.

Miss Florence-Alice Helms was her sister's attendant. She was gown in a floor length dress of ice blue, also fashioned with a jewel neckline and long, bell-shaped sleeves. As a coiffure arrangement she wore matching double ribbon bows with knotted streamers. She carried a nosegay of blue daisies, sweetheart roses, and fugi mums.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a full-length peach gown of polyester voile, designed with a lifted waistline, a high neckline, and lantern sleeves. With the dress, she wore matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

The groom's mother was gown in a silk chiffon full-length gown in aqua with a high rise neckline, fitted bodice sashed at the empire with a full circular skirt in tones of aqua and mint. With the dress, she wore matching accessories and orchids in corsage arrangement on her handbag.

Best man was Chief Warrant Officer Frederick L. Cappel of Barborton, Ohio. Ushers were Robert Helms, Stephen Poindexter, Michael Martin of Griffin, Georgia, and Captain Rhett Lewis, Fort Rucker.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Fort Rucker Officers' Open Mess.

For the wedding trip to Mexico City and Acapulco, the bride wore a brown knit blazer suit edged in white braid. Her accessories were brown, and she wore a white orchid corsage. Upon their return, the couple will live in Enterprise.

Beautiful Soup
Made from Apples

For most Americans, the "Souffle de Jour" is a steaming bowlful of broth, a vegetable or a cream soup. Europeans like these at least as much as we do, but they also enjoy quite another type of soup. This is the fruit soup which may be appetizer or dessert.

Almost any fruit or berry can be used for fruit soup. But after the apple harvest, Apple Cream Soup is very likely to be the fruit soup of the day.

Ice Milk Shake
Atop Cereal

Children often enjoy something just a little different for breakfast. Whip up a starchy milk shake and pour it over their favorite breakfast cereal. To complete this breakfast add a glass of juice and buttered toast.

Eat Breakfast And
Be More Alert

In most homes, breakfast is a hurried, fix-it-yourself meal. Since each family member starts the day at a different time, but breakfast is still important. Studies at the University of Iowa have shown that people who eat a nutritionally adequate breakfast work more efficiently and are more alert than people who skip breakfast.

What is a nutritionally adequate breakfast? Many nutritionists recommend that breakfast provide about 25% of the daily need of protein, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals. This does not mean that breakfast has to be a big meal or take a long time to prepare. A bowl of cereal with milk is a good start toward the day's supply of needed nutrients. Ready-to-eat and instant or quick cooking hot cereal furnish needed vitamins, iron, carbohydrates and protein. To complete this easy-to-fix breakfast add a citrus juice or fruit, enriched toast and milk to drink.

Apple Cream Soup

1 quart water
4 medium cooking apples, pared, cored and quartered
1/2 to 1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/2 cup red wine
1/2 cup corn starch
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon sugar

Bring water to boil in medium saucepan. Add apples; cover and simmer 10 to 15 minutes or until fork tender. Put through a food mill or sieve into saucepan. Stir in 1/2 to 1 cup sugar (depending on sweetness of the fruit) and the lemon rind.

Bring to a boil over medium heat. Gradually stir wine into corn starch, blending until smooth. Stir into apple mixture. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Chill. Whisk cream with vanilla and 1 tablespoon sugar. Serve with chilled soup. Makes about 1 quart.

TRENT LOTT

The Best Man... for South Mississippi

You elect a Congressman because of what he can do for you... not what he can do for himself.

I believe I can be a more effective representative for the people of South Mississippi by putting my experience to work as a Republican Congressman.

It would have been an easy path to run for office as a Democrat following the tradition of my family and most South Mississippians. I could not, however, in all conscientiousness, support the radical doctrines of the present Democratic Party and its leaders. I could not sail under false colors.

Times have changed and so has the Democratic Party. The seniority achieved by Mississippi's Congressional delegation was not accomplished under the present Democratic leadership. This seniority is continually threatened, as witnessed by the successful attempt to strip former Congressman John Bell Williams of his seniority and the more recent attempts to weaken the leadership positions held by Congressman Colmer and Senator Eastland. What chance then does a freshman Congressman from Mississippi have in a party controlled by McGovern, Shriver, Kennedy and other left-wing politicians? There is neither honor or gain in being a party outcast.

The time has come to "send a message" to the leadership of the National Democratic Party. It's time to tell them that the South and the people of Mississippi will no longer be taken for granted.

If you believe in our President's efforts to end the war in Viet Nam with honor and with the welfare of our prisoners-of-war at heart... if you support his anti-inflation policies... if you approve of his conservative stand on such issues as busing of school children, gun control, national defense, welfare, taxes, and drug abuse, give him the support he needs in Congress...
SEND TRENT LOTT TO WASHINGTON!

Experience means a LOTT in Congress

MR. AND MRS. BENJAMIN BUTLER

Miss Raboteau Weds Mr. Butler

St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church was the setting for the afternoon wedding September 20 of Miss La Joie Veronica Raboteau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Raboteau Jr. of Bay St. Louis, to Benjamin Butler, son of Leroy Butler and Mrs. Marguerite Narcisse of Franklin, La.

Rev. Jerome Le Doux, SVD., New Orleans, was celebrant of the Nuptial Mass, Don Raboteau, brother of the bride, served as moderator; Tony Raboteau, another brother, Raymond Collins, cousin of the bride, Henry Labat and Cedric Hazeur were altar boys.

Roland Collins, organist, played the processional and recessional marches and appropriate selections during the Mass.

bridesmaid and Ellen Hazeur and Marleen Raboteau, sister of the bride, were flower girls. Richard Raboteau, a brother, carried the rings.

The matron and maid of honor wore blue flowered silk organza floor length empire gowns fashioned with short sleeves and square necklines. They wore matching velvet head bows and carried a single yellow carnation. The bridesmaids wore similar styled gowns in yellow and carried single blue carnations. The flower girls were gowned in white dresses with yellow velvet sashes. Their head pieces were fashioned of lilacs of the valley and yellow streamers. They carried baskets of flowers.

Larry Britton attended the groom, as best man. Groomsmen were Ted Johnson, Ted Savoy, Fred Butler, brother of the groom, Charles Wilson, and Lawrence Showell. Bernard Wade was junior groomsman. Emile Hazeur, and Maurice Singleton served as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in St. Rose School cafeteria. The mother of the bride received their guests wearing a green silk brocade dress with beige accessories and white carnation corsage. The mother of the groom chose a red and black dress with matching accessories. A white carnation corsage completed her ensemble.

The bride's table, overlaid with an embroidered organza cloth, held a four-tiered cake trimmed with pale yellow sugar spun roses and blue forget-me-nots. A traditional bride and groom ornament trimmed the top tier. Carnations and fern encircled the bottom tier. Branched silver candelabra completed the table decorations. Mrs. Gabriel Warren and Mrs. Vivian Jones cut and served the cake. Misses Donna Williams, Catherine Haydel and Shelley Singleton were tea girls.

For traveling the bride wore a blue and white suit with matching accessories. The couple will make their home in Washington, D.C., where Mr. Butler is employed with the FBI and Mrs. Butler is associated with American Chemical Society.

items. The hostess for the refreshments and decorations was Mrs. Donald Decker.

Arrangements of magnolias decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white peau de sole A-line gown fashioned with a Victorian neckline and long sleeves.
